Practical Advocacy in the Crown Court

Mary Cowe and Susan Cavender

Provides students and junior barristers, as well as solicitor advocates, with a practical understanding of advocacy in the criminal court. It is set out chronologically following the life of the case from first conference to appeal against conviction in the CA, with references to procedure, codes of conduct, key cases, and forms. Each chapter follows a similar format. The emphasis is very much on practical advice, with do's and don'ts along with mock situations and good practice boxes.

This is an ideal text for the junior bar and solicitor-advocates who do not attend court on a regular basis. It also serves as a useful aide memoir for pupil masters on what they should mention or advise their pupils to do, and indeed not to do, in hearings.

Extent: 200pp ■ Pub date: Sep-20 ■ Price: £29.99

Planning Appeals

Practice and Materials

Richard Kimblin QC

A concise collation of the relevant materials for each relevant stage of an appeal. Taking costs applications as an example, it brings together: the statutory basis for a costs award; the relevant procedure rules; the guidance in the National Planning Practice Guidance; summaries or extracts example costs decisions which show how particular points are often decided and provides commentary and observations.

Preparing. Provides a step by step guide to framing a case, supporting it with effective evidence and advice on how to avoid pitfalls.

Giving evidence. The focus of any appeal is the inquiry or hearing. The function of the inquiry and its key elements have to be understood in order to be effective within it. It covers the benefits of a good examination in chief; what can be achieved during cross examination and how are you (as witness, client, solicitor) going to contribute; does re-examination matter and how does all this relate to what is said ultimately in closing submissions?

The Rosewell Review. Provides detailed explanation of the impact of the Rosewell Review.

Rayney's Tax Planning for Family and Owner-Managed Companies 2020/21

Peter Rayney

"This book is comprehensive, enlightening and readable – a tour de force." Law Skills (review of a previous edition)

There are few areas of taxation that do not impact on family or owner-managed companies and their shareholders. Consequently, this book covers a wide range of tax planning matters.

The book summarises the key planning points from the separate viewpoints of the company itself, the shareholders who work for the company (usually as directors), the non-working shareholders and in some instances the employees. Planning checklists are included at the end of all relevant chapters. Numerous worked examples are provided to illustrate the practical tax and commercial implications for a host of typical situations.

Key areas covered include the following

- the various methods of extracting funds from the company;
- remuneration strategies, treatment of employee benefit trusts and the impact of the 'disguised remuneration' legislation;
- the treatment of benefits and expenses, including the company car regime;
- treatment of personal service companies under the IR35 and 'off-payroll-working' regimes;
- a detailed review of the pension regime as it affects owner-managers;
- the main employee share schemes and arrangements.

The new edition is updated in line with the relevant 2020 legislative changes including the loan charge review and the off-payroll rules as well as new practical points, emerging case law and developments in HMRC practice.

Taxation of Company Reorganisations

6th edition

Pete Miller, George Hardy and Fehzaan Ismail

An essential reference source for tax advisers who need to offer clear and concise guidance to clients who are looking to restructure their business, including the reduction of capital rules, to using them for tax structuring, to EU cross-border transactions.

The guidance is applicable to a wide range of organisations; from small owner managed businesses up to the largest public companies. The basic principles behind the relevant legislation are laid out, including relevant EU legislation such as the Mergers Directive and the Cross Border Mergers Directive. The commentary looks at the various options open to companies, from reorganising to branch incorporation. The rules are analysed with the available reliefs laid out.

Updated in relation to the following: Changes to the substantial shareholding exemptions in Finance Act No 2017; Changes to EIS, SEIS, and VCT investment schemes in FA 2018; Introduction of LBTT in Scotland and LTT in Wales.

Format: Paperback ■ ISBN: 9781526511492

Drafting Trusts and Will Trusts in Northern Ireland

4th edition

James Kessler and Sheena Grattan

Supplies the tools and instructions to help build watertight trusts and will trusts in Northern Ireland, allowing the drafting of accurate and legally binding trusts and will trusts with the minimum of research.

The main legislative change since the last edition published in 2013 has been the introduction of the complex residence nil rate band which will be covered comprehensively. Practitioners who have little involvement with inter vivos trusts will find this book invaluable for the will drafting chapters. Another important legislative change since the publication of the last edition is the Charities Act (NI) 2013 which clarified the public benefit test and which is also covered in detail in this new edition.
